

ABSTRACT

A fuel system, and a method for manufacturing such a fuel system, for an internal combustion engine operating with a liquid fuel and including a fuel reservoir intended for the fuel and an additive reservoir including a chamber formed in a concave recess of the wall of the fuel reservoir.